Experience

Erin draws on over 20 years of experience working in the fields of estate planning, federal taxation, and business succession planning. Erin's practice includes representation of individuals on all aspects of wealth transfer planning, including the implementation of sophisticated planning techniques. Erin has also counseled individual and corporate trustees on a wide variety of issues including their fiduciary duties, asset management and navigating complex trust laws.

Erin began her legal career in private practice concentrating on the areas of tax and estate planning. Prior to joining Kembell Woods & Martinsen LLP, Erin served as Senior Trust Counsel for a bank managed trust company providing legal advice to private and institutional trust relationships as well as regulatory guidance to the company. When not working, Erin enjoys traveling with her family.
